

I will admit that Hidalgo looked ridiculously boring and I had absolutely no interest in it. A guy riding a horse through the desert? That's damn exciting. I had no intention of watching it and then I was forced to for review a few years back and I was glad that I did.

QUALITY:

Ok. If it's grainy at all, it just from all the sand (haha).

BONUS FEATURES:

Featurettes.

Not the best transfer and the movie isn't FANTASTIC, it's just not bad and it was actually entertaining and didn't drag. I'm not sure if I would find myself watching it if I didn't have to but is something I would certainly recommend to those that like the genre, whatever genre that may be.
