After one of his assets was killed and someone trying to kill him, CIA's handler Skinner disappeared for a while until he's brought out of hiding. Now with a new asset to protect, Skinner must find a way to get back into his old life as a spy while trying to keep his asset Jae alive. With a growing cyber attack that could take down the powers of the world and kill millions, Skinner and Jae must put aside their own problems to work together or both will end up dead.
