

Reacta is a Mexican Alternative Rock Band from Aguascalientes, Mexico. They have a small town vibe with a very commercial and unique style. Their sound can be described as a mix of Incubus and The Killers. Reacta is set to release their debut album on February 18th 2014 and it will be titled "Refraction."

Everything from the vocals to the instrumentals to the lyrics come together so beautifully on this album. Every element on "Refraction" seems to methodically fit a common theme making this a very complete album. The instrumentals have a great 80's/ alternative vibe to it making it both different and pleasant to listen to. As for the vocals, they are full of emotion and demonstrate great range. The songs and the lyrics both exemplify good variety. My favorite songs were "Puzzles" and "Complication."

Reacta is exactly what the music world needs right now. Everything about them is fresh and new. They make great music and I think they will make you a fan if you give them a chance. This was an impressive debut album and I cannot wait to see what they release next. For those reasons, I am giving "Refraction" an "A-."
